

One of the biggest reasons Downtown Medina has experienced a renaissance is due to the fact that its incredible collection of historic architecture has been lovingly preserved.

The result has been admired by tourists and entrepreneurs from around the country who marvel at what we have that others do not.

It has also attracted individuals who desire to be located in such a preservation district, as well as people who desire to shop, eat, and experience such a place.

Over the years, the Planning Board and Architectural Review Board have been very helpful to those who have sought to own/operate in downtown, assisting with design and materials advice for those who desire it.
